MOTHER CLAIRE SENT TO NEW ROADS AFTER SIX YEARS SERVICE

Mother Evelyn Has Arrived to Head St. Joseph's Academy Coming Here From Mount Washington, Ohio—Deep Regret Expressed at Departure of Mother Claire.

Mother Claire, for the past six years superior of St. Joseph's Academy, Bay St. Louis, has been sent as mother superior of the St. Joseph's school at New Roads, La., and Mother Evelyn arrived in Bay St. Louis Tuesday to assume control of the local academy here. This change was announced in New Orleans early this week at the close of the annual retreat of the sisters of the Order of St. Joseph.

Mother Claire had resided at the convent here for the past 30 years, coming here from her home in France on May 5, 1903, her first mission, and remaining here during all the past 30 years. As teacher in the school she endeared herself to the student body and was one of the best beloved women in this section. Deeply spiritual and devout, she was a fine citizen and friend and her numerous acquaintances and friends in this section regret her departure, but wish for her continued success in her new work. Her specialty was art in which she was very talented but of late years she has taught also typing and stenography.

The new Memorial Hall at St. Joseph's Academy which was dedicated on the occasion of the celebration of the 75th anniversary of St. Joseph's founding, two years ago, stands as testimony of the business acumen of Mother Claire, as it was largely through her work and activity that the building came into being. Through the trying financial stress of the past few years she has been able to keep the payments for the building up to date.

As the teacher of many of Bay St. Louis' young men and women and the friend of everyone in the town, Mother Claire has been a definite unit in the life of the community.

Mother Evelyn, the new superior here, comes from the St. Joseph's school at Mount Washington, a suburb of Cincinnati. This is her first time to be stationed here but she has visited here. A native of New Orleans, she is the blood sister of Sister Raynold, principal of the local academy. She has been serving as superior at the Cincinnati school for the past six years. Succeeding her there is Mother Saint John the Baptist who went from New Roads, La. Other changes in the faculties of the schools will be announced later.

Travel, transportation and motor exhibits were especially interesting to Mr. McDonald who viewed the developments and new inventions of water, land and air craft including the wonderful new train, the newest in airplanes and ship construction. Mechanical inventions affecting various types of engines, application of modern appliances, etc., were of vital interest.

Visits to the planetarium where the lectures illustrate the planetary system; views of the art institute with its tremendously valuable art treasures, were enjoyed. Individual exhibits of unusual attention included the diamond exhibit and Kaffirs in the diamond mine.

BAZAAR PROVES SUCCESS

Annual Mid-Summer Fair and Festival for Catholic Church Held Over Week-End.

The annual mid-summer fair and bazaar given for the benefit of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church held Saturday and Sunday at the grounds of St. Stanislaus College, proved successful with very large attendances for both days. The weather was perfect for the occasion and was conducive of the fine spirit which prevailed the crowds of Coast residents and visitors.

The usual booths were presided over by active committees from the congregation, all working under the general supervision of Mrs. W. A. Staehle, chairman. The Municipal Band furnished music throughout the evening Sunday, adding much to the pleasure of those in attendance.

Due to some of the returns not being reported to Rev. A. J. Gmelch, a complete report of the financial success could not be made at this time, but it is believed that a substantial sum has been realized, it was stated.

Thirty miles of new telephone line is being rebuilt from Bay St. Louis to the McLeod Turpentine still and to the home of Dr. P. D. Nicaise. This new line replaces the old line which has been out of commission for about six months. This phone line which has served the people of the community for many years has been much missed.

"WHITE ELEPHANT" PARTY TUESDAY AT MASONIC TEMPLE

Methodist Missionary Society Is Planning Novel Fair and All Welcome.

Have you a "white elephant" in your home? Surely you have one in that over-crowded bureau drawer. A new something which you bought or someone gave you that has never been of any use. Perhaps it's a collar and cuff set that wouldn't fit anything you had or a gardenia when white is ruinous to your complexion. Perhaps someone sent an organ and you never had a chance to use it. What's the use of it? Why not bring it to the "White Elephant Party" next Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the second floor of the Masonic Temple Building. Also, bring twenty-five cents and when all the exciting packages are put up for sale you can have your choice of them all, large and small.

There will be games, contests and refreshments to pass away a pleasant afternoon and everyone is invited. The only cost is to purchase one package. It may be the very thing you've been needing.

The party is in charge of the following committee of the Methodist Woman's Missionary Society, whose turn it is to entertain in August: Mrs. C. C. McDonald, Mrs. Richard Koch, Mrs. C. E. Kraft, Mrs. Guillard and Miss Ruth Schreck.

Bring a package, a quarter and prepare for an afternoon of fun.

ALFRED OLIVER CHARGED

Convicted New Orleans Bank Robber to be Tried in Bay St. Louis in September.

Alfred A. Oliver of Bay St. Louis, convicted New Orleans bank robber, who was brought to Bay St. Louis last week, has been lodged in the Harrison county jail to await trial at the September term of circuit court here on a charge of having robbed the Merchant's Bank & Trust Company last year. He was brought to Mississippi for trial on release last week from a New Orleans penal farm where he was serving a five-year sentence for robbing a New Orleans bank.

It was revealed in New Orleans this week that Oliver is wanted on a series of felony charges.

The charges, for which detainers have been filed, include alleged operations in several states in the Middle West.

Asked About Release.

Asked why Oliver was transferred a month in advance of trial, District Attorney R. C. Cowan of Hancock county said that he was under the impression that Oliver was about to be released from the Louisiana penitentiary and he wished to take no chance of letting the man escape him.

Oliver is wanted in the eastern district of Missouri on charges of postal law violations for which he and William L. Livingston were indicted after the robbery on November 8, 1930, of the Meremac Bank of Valley Park, St. Louis county.

Oliver was caught in New Orleans March 5, 1932, in the Freret street branch of the Interstate Trust and Banking Company. He dug into the bank and cut the safe with an acetylene torch. On the counter was piled $3200 in currency and the bandit was sitting down resting after his work when he was surprised by police.

Oliver Tuesday was said by employees of the Long Beach Bank of Long Beach, Miss., not to be one of two gunmen who held up the bank and stole $6000 two and a half years ago.

DANCE PROVES GREAT SUCCESS FRIDAY AT FORESTRY CAMP

About 75 young ladies from Bay St. Louis and community attended, motoring to the camp in two trucks and about 25 cars. A group of ladies from Bay St. Louis chaperoned the girls.

The hall at the camp in which the dance was held was transformed for the evening into a swamp cornered with quantities of Spanish moss suspended in festoons from the rafters and ceiling. Music was furnished by Slade Brothers orchestra from Gulfport. The boys at the camp, hosts for the affair, served refreshments during the evening.

Another dance is planned for September.

MANY ARE SEEKING LOANS

Information Relative to the Home Loan Corporation Given by Local Representative.

Between 35 and 40 applications have been sent to the regional office at Jackson of the Home Loan Corporation, requesting loans. E. J. Gex, Hancock county representative of the corporation states. Fully 200 persons in the county have expressed themselves interested in securing loans from the corporation.

In the first distribution of blanks for application for loans only 15 were received at Bay St. Louis and these were used at once.

On August 14 about 50 blanks were received and at present this supply has been exhausted. Others are expected soon.

An appraiser's fee of $5 is to be attached to each application when quick action is expected, this sum being sent with the application to the Jackson office. The expense for handling one of these loans will be a considerable item, it is pointed out. In addition to the appraiser's fee, an abstract will be requested where loans are approved, and the lowest price that abstractors will charge is about $7.50 and from that upward according to the location of the property.

Also, a trust deed will have to be recorded. An attorney's fee for handling the loan will be charged, but as yet the amount of the attorney's fee has not been set by the corporation.

Loans through the Home Loan Corporation are only on homes. These seeking loans for farms should apply through the Federal Land Bank. Loans are to be granted only on mortgaged homes, the mortgage to be of record prior to June, 1933. This means that the corporation will not loan money with which to build homes.

TRAVEL IS EDUCATIONAL

THE lure of travel is more compelling than ever. Just at this season the urge is acute. There is little or no reason for remaining at home when the call of the open is well nigh irresistible. Railroad fare has never been lower and periodical excursions to distant points offer advantageous rates. Then the auto, ever at hand, will carry several in number quickly, safely and at minimum cost. The question naturally evolves itself—Why stay at home? One owes it to himself or herself and to the family as well some sort of a vacation.

Just now there are thousands of people from all sections who are away, either visiting the exposition at Chicago or traveling to the mountains, the Great West and Pacific Coast or to other points.

The result will be educational in a travel sense. One must go away from home—to see the world—to see things, meet people and learn of the things unseen and frequently unheard of in one immediate bailiwick. It might cost little but no better investment exists. It will pay handsome dividends in health, education to say nothing of benefits of recreation and relaxation.

SEND THE BOY TO ST. STANISLAUS.

THE time is well nigh at hand when parents and students as well are casting glances around in quest of sending their boy away to school in order he may escape from the too-indulgent influences of home and, also in order the boy may be at school where his time is given to that important business of "going to school."

Since these lines are more particularly directed to readers living away from Bay St. Louis and since The Sea Coast Echo circulates over a number of States and to an appreciable extent, attention is called to the unusual advantages and facilities of St. Stanislaus College where academic and moral training are paramount and every advantage of modern boarding school is offered at minimum cost.

St. Stanislaus college will solve the perplexing problem existing just now possibly more than ever of "where shall we send our boy next school season?"

TURBULENT CUBA.

Cuba was discovered by Columbus on his first historic voyage in 1492, and in the years immediately following the Spaniards made several settlements, that of Habana dating as of 1519. The early record was full of struggle, Habana having been destroyed twice by the French in less than forty years. The last years of Spanish occupation were marked with many uprisings and rebellions, but the island became independent, by means of American help, in 1898.

In 1899 American troops of occupation were withdrawn and the little nation began its independent career. In 1906 the presence of American troops were again needed, but these were withdrawn in 1909. At various times since then critical situations have arisen, American marines assisting the government on one occasion. During the long rule of President Machado rebellion has been incipient at various times, but now it has grown more dangerous than ever.

SETTLE FAILS.

THE effort of Lt.-Com. Settle, of the Navy, to ascend into the stratosphere came to grief. The big balloon went up about 5,000 feet, then acting in accordance with the pilot's name, came down, because a valve refused to close, allowing the gas to escape. Luckily, the pilot escaped injury and the balloon wasn't hurt much either. So, the first effort in America to duplicate the feat of the Swiss Prof. Piccard ended disastrously. However, Commander Settle immediately expressed an intention of repairing the damage to his craft and trying another ascent a little later on in the fall. The American stratosphere has not yet been invaded.

There are a number of things that Bay St. Louis needs that can be secured through community action and with very little expense.

WEEK-END TRAFFIC INCREASES.

REGARDLESS of stress of condition or other untoward circumstance there has been no diminution of week-end auto travel to the Gulf Coast. On the contrary there is a marked increase, it is authoritatively stated. The result of increased traffic is noted and let it be said to the credit of authority there has practically been no accident.

At the Bay St. Louis end of the bi-county bridge Mayor G. Y. Blaize and associates have placed extra police surveillance directing for a more safety traffic with telling result.

There is no reason for accidents. Every public safeguard has been provided for. Stop and other safety signs and devices are in evidence. With such precautionary measures in force and with sane drivers there is no excuse for accidents. However, it might be well to be careful of the fool driver. He is still at large. He might be better known as the fast driver.

THE MOTORISTS WHO TAKE CHANCES.

YOU see them on streets and highways every day—motorists who take chances. You see them turning corners at high speeds. Or stealing another car's right of way. Or passing on hills and curves. Or driving on the wrong side of the road. Or cutting in and out of thick traffic. Or coming roaring into intersections and road junctions without looking to either side. Or operating at speeds which are obviously higher than are safe under driving conditions of the moment. And, every once in a while, you see such a motorist cause an accident. Perhaps there is little damage done. Or perhaps a life is lost and valuable property is needlessly destroyed.

The reckless motorist comprises ten per cent or less of the driving population. But he causes ninety per cent of the accidents. If the reckless drivers simply injured each other it wouldn't be particularly important to the rest of us. But they seldom do that—they maim and kill the careful, the competent, the prudent. And you never know who's going to be next.

This year about thirty thousand people are going to be killed because someone was careless, reckless, discourteous. Not one of a thousand of those deaths is really due to an unavoidable accident—an occurrence which is almost as rare as the dodo. They can all be prevented. And they will be when there is a concerted public drive against those who make places of carnage out of public highways.

ANOTHER AIR RECORD.

TWO Frenchmen, Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos, have completed a non-stop flight from New York to Raya, in Syria, remaining fifty-five hours in air and breaking past distance records by over five hundred miles.

This record is quite noteworthy. Unofficial estimates are that these two flyers covered 5,000 miles. Their first plans were to continue to India, but undue consumption of gasoline caused them to stop when Syria was reached. Still, man is not satisfied. Two other Frenchmen announce they will soon attempt to break this record by flying from Calais, France, to Tokyo, Japan, crossing Europe and Asia in the journey. Before long somebody will try going around the world without stopping, cutting down Wiley Post's recent time-record.

MUST HAVE FAITH.

MERCHANTS, manufacturers and others employing labor are somewhat concerned over the New Code, meaning that hours be shortened and wages increased, at a time when most of them have been finding it difficult enough to get hold of enough cash to pay the old wages, and then sometimes failing.

A large faith in economic possibilities of increased wages must overcome these doubts. The belief of the administration in that increased wages will mean increased buying, that more business will enable these merchants and manufacturers to pay the higher wages. Business all along will move upward.

CURVES COME BACK.

ADVANCE news is that curves are coming back—and we are not talking about a pitcher's deliveries.

Early showing of Fall fashions reveal that the lean, angular figure is being discarded, and the new styles will show natural curves, as nature provided.

Aside from the style involved, it probably means better health for the women. Reducing diets to be lean and thin has probably meant reduced strength and a weakened resistance against disease.

Maybe, the styles have been selected to help in the campaign to increase consumption—the ladies will eat more hereafter.

NEW DEAL'S DECALOGUE.

ONE of the new Assistant Secretaries of State is Harry F. Payer, of Cleveland, who, in a recent speech, laid down the Ten Commandments of the New Deal, partly as follows:

"First—Thou shalt not live, my dear country, beyond thy means.

"Second—Thou shalt not lose confidence in thyself or thy great strength.

"Third—Thou shalt not make Mammon thy god but neither shalt thou be unmindful of thy monetary system, lest it destroy thee.

"Fourth—Thou shalt not make gold thy god but thy servant.

"Fifth—Thou shalt not permit the unemployment of thy people, well beloved; this is the first and greatest commandment.

"Sixth—Thou shalt not fail to manage well and rationalize thy industry.

"Seventh—Thou shalt not suffer the paradox of poverty amidst plenty else thou sinnest grievously."

DANGEROUS PETS.

ALMOST everybody knows that doctors use rabbits and guinea pigs for experiment work, often inoculating them with dangerous disease germs in order to study the possible treatment for such diseases. Yet, some robbers didn't know this.

Out in Lincoln, Nebraska, some thieves entered a hospital, took thirty rabbits and six pigs, probably to sell them as pets to children. The hospital authorities promptly spread the word that these animals had been inoculated with infectious diseases and warned the public. An epidemic might possibly begin from the stealing of these animals.

Drafting codes for employment and working hours is one thing; seeing that profiteers obey them is another.

People who do things without thinking usually do some thinking afterwards.

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING
(For The Sea Coast Echo)

INFLATION AND WAGES.

THE objection of inflation, as this column tried to explain last week, is to raise prices, and thus to decrease the burden of debts. It is a favorable economic panacea of farmers, and it is a great advantage to clever and daring speculators. A question not often asked, nor answered, is what effect it has on wages and salaries. The old economics has little to say about this, because it was not much concerned with wages. The laborer is supposed to get what is left after landlord, capitalist and business man take what is theirs. That share, by the "Iron Law of Wages," can never be more than enough to live on, and is sometimes less than that.

Inflation means higher prices; but not all prices go up together. That is where the speculator gets his profit. Some prices rise very rapidly indeed. It takes less than sixty seconds for the price of stocks to jump up on the exchange, or for the quotations on wheat, cotton and pork to show a big gain. Goods imported, or exported, are the first to show the effects of inflation. Many prices, such as rents, are fixed by contract, and may not be changed, in some cases, for years. Others are settled largely by custom, or habit, which has much to do with the schedules of pay for services. Supply and demand eventually control the prices of work, as they do of goods, but they take effect much more slowly. In practice, if prices go up, say fifty per cent, you have the privilege of asking your boss for a raise; but the chances that you will get a fifty per cent increase in pay to match the prices are rather small, especially when there are a lot of other people looking for jobs. This is fact, as well as theory. There was a time in Germany when a day's wage was not enough money to buy a loaf of bread. Hugo Stueves was making millions, and so were a few other rich men. Did you know that the inflation we have had so far (foreign exchange) and the prospect of further inflation, has been a big factor in increasing the value of stocks in this country by some $20,000,000,000. Somebody must be making money in this country.

The N. I. B. will increase prices because it will increase costs, and prevent price-cutting. So far it will have the same effect as inflation. But the wage boosts and the added employment that cause the added costs will also provide purchasing power to absorb the goods, even at the higher prices. The worker getting fifteen dollars a week can afford to pay more, and will pay more, than the man getting only ten or twelve dollars, or the man out of a job entirely. That is the whole philosophy of the new revolution. But an increase in prices without an increase in income raises the question as to who is to pay the higher prices. The whole program of recovery may get all tangled up if prices get out of line with wages and salaries. It might easily turn out to be like climbing up on step and falling back two. The Mississippi farmer wants only one thing out of life—that is fifteen cents for his cotton. But now can he get it, unless there are a whole lot of people who can afford to pay the fifteen cents?

We have a new problem to deal with since the war, one which is entirely new in the experience of the world, and we are in a mess because we have not known how to deal with it, in fact we haven't even grasped the problem until very recently. The one question that concerns us all, millionaire and pauper, is how to deal with this amazing flood of goods that is pouring from our farms and factories. Higher wages and higher salaries will increase demand, and so help to answer the question. Higher prices with the same make rates and salary schedules, will mean decreased buying power to use up the mass production on which we pride ourselves so much. It is not the supply that is lacking, but the demand. Ever since man came upon the earth, for many more centuries than we have any history records at all, until about thirteen years ago, his greatest difficulty has been to get enough goods to satisfy his wants. That is still the case in the rest of the world. But, since 1920, the trouble in this country has been to find some way of distributing the enormous quantity of goods that we have produced and are producing, and the enormously greater quantities that we could produce if we had any idea at all as to what we could do with them.

By the law of supply, higher prices decrease consumption, and inflation means higher prices. If consumption is decreased, not only will more workers be thrown out of employment, but their employers will lose business when they haven't nearly enough as it is. By the law of demand, if there are more buyers prices will tend to advance by themselves. An artificial increase in prices will throw supply and demand still further out of balance, and the speculator will make about the only profit that is made. That is why many of us think of inflation as a serious threat, not as a promise.

SAUNTERINGS From Where The West Begins.

By JOHN T. MEYERS.

AUTO MANUFACTURERS BETTER TAKE HEED.

TRANSPORTATION of the slow and stubborn variety proved of trivial value in a certain south-west Texas town. We refer, of course, to the four-legged, long-eared, braying, "hay-burner" burro—probably donkey to you.

When a stock law was put into effect recently, some 50 stray, ownerless burros were herded before the courthouse, and offered at auction to the highest bidder. The top price offered for any burro was 35 cents. A few sold for 25 cents, with a large number finding owners on bids of 10 and 15 cents. Several were ridden away by grinning, freckled-faced lads, who managed to scrape together the important sum of 5 pennies. Automobile manufacturers had better take heed.

DOG ADOPTS "KIDS" HARD TO TEACH.

BABIES are babies to Bloomers, a mother dog owned by a rancher near Rock Springs, Texas. It doesn't matter whether they cry to the tune of "Bow-wow" or "Baa-ah, Baa-ah." Bloomers feels obligated to perform her maternal duties. To prove her theory that motherhood is a lady dog's greatest career, Bloomers adopted two stray kids on the ranch when her puppies were given away.

In spare moments Bloomers nips fleas from the kids if her adopted family. She feeds them regularly, and treats them the same as she did her puppies. So far, Bloomers has not gotten around to teaching the frisky kids to hide bones, or chase cats up trees.

NEW NRA STAMPS NOW ON SALE.

THE NRA emergency postage have been on sale in Washington, D. C., since Tuesday. Post offices throughout the country will be supplied as soon as possible. The new stamp issue is of 3-cent denomination. We were just getting used to the Century of Progress stamp. First thought it was a 10 cent stamp. Speed by the time we get to feeling familiar with this NRA stamp another will take its place. But a government has to keep the loyal order of stamp collectors satisfied. Doesn't it?

TO ENJOY BRIEF INTERVAL OF POPULARITY.

MASKS representing the popular characters from the comic sections of newspapers are the fad of the moment with the kiddies. Some national manufacturing firms have capitalized on this idea. A mask is given as a premium with purchase of their products in drug and grocery stores.

Alike the yo-yo top and jig saw puzzle, the comic face mask will enjoy a brief interval of popularity—until a newer fad takes its place. Human nature is fickle in demands for diversion.

GLAD WHEN RIDE WAS OVER.

THOSE daring girls, clinging nonchalantly on behind the seats of motorcycle drivers whizzing past somehow incites our admiration. The time we accepted a motorcycle officer's invitation to hang on behind proved our first, and last, attempt. The cop was speedy. The street was slippery—and we were glad when the ride ended. Never again, mates.

Why does a "treat" cigar out of the same box seem more enjoyable than one our own nickle buys? No, we don't wear a kilt, nor play a bagpipe either, smartie. Merely asking a simple question.

There might have been more truth than jest in the small businessman's remark, that he belonged to both the NRA and NSF ranks. He said it with a smile. He can be downed, but never killed. That's the spirit President Roosevelt expects of those who display the BLUE EAGLE. More power to the man who dares smile in the face of adversity.

One Sandbag Won't Make a Rampart

ONE bag of sand won't turn aside a machine gun bullet. But five hundred of them have enabled an army to turn back a bayonet charge. A savings account is like that, too. One deposit, made and then forgotten, amounts to very little. Add to those deposits regularly and you'll have a sum that will protect you from a "surprise attack" of financial hardship, no matter how severe.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS.

(Winona Times)

A SUBSCRIBER who is loyal to his home city contributes the following:

I prefer to buy at home;

Because my interests are here.

Because the community that is good enough for me to live in is good enough for me to buy in.

Because I believe in transacting business with my friends.

Because my deliveries are more prompt as a rule the nearer home I buy.

Because I want to see the goods.

Because I want to get what I pay for.

Because by so doing I help to increase property values of every kind including my own, by encouraging those who are capable of growth and expansion as the result of increased patronage.

Because the man I buy from stands back of the goods, and in case of disputes or claims it is much easier to adjust them when my merchant and I are near together.

Because every dollar I spend at home stays at home and helps work for the welfare of my community.

Because all things being equal, neighborliness and friendliness are of value in business just as they are in social life.

Because I sell what I produce here at home.

Because the man I buy from pays his part of the city and county taxes, helps support my school, my church, my lodge and my home.

Because, "One good turn deserves another," and as you owe much to your community, there is no better way to repay it than by helping the business of your community to help themselves.

WHY NOT LEGALIZE BEER?

THE Collins Commercial says:

Legally, Mississippi is dry, but in reality she is as wet as any state in the union.

We have all the evils, if there be evils, of legalized beer. We have, also the evils of bootlegging in a dry state.

We don't have the advantage of legalized beer. The state receives no revenue from the beer sold openly within its borders. In fact the state continues to maintain, at great expense, organizations to enforce the prohibition laws, while public opinion invariably nullifies the effects of these organizations.

We are neither fish nor fowl. We don't know what we are.

The legislature, which is expected to be called in extraordinary session sometime within the near future should legalize beer in Mississippi at the earliest moment possible, and place a reasonable tax on it.

FRANKLIN D.

(By Clayton Rand in Gulfport Guide.)

SPEAKING in Georgia during his campaign, President Roosevelt, in his enthusiasm, got too far away from the rostrum and collapsed before his audience.

Assisted to his feet he smiled and continued his interrupted message without missing a word in his sentence.

Wearing a steel belt around his waist and with a steel rod to either heel, he leads a nation back to its senses.

A nation that only yesterday boasted of its invincible courage and invulnerable spirit is being led from the wilderness by a cripple.

What a power moral courage and inspired leadership for a nation blinded by infinite error!

WITH THE MOVIES AND FILM FOLKS

(For the Sea Coast Echo)

THE strike of the technicians at Hollywood has things quite a bit disturbed, with producers hesitating to begin new pictures until the matter is settled. Those studios estimating include Fox, Paramount, Warners and Universal.

Colleen Moore returns to the screen after an absence of four years, in "The Power and the Glory." Spencer Tracy appears opposite her. "Voltaire," George Arliss' latest has been completed and is scheduled for release in the immediate future. He is supported in the picture by Doris Kenyon, Margaret Lindsay, Alan Mowbray and Theodore Newton.

"Bitter Sweet," Noel Coward's reasonably well-known musical comedy is the first of the new season releases for United Artists. Anna Neagles has the feminine lead.

Sam Hellman, the humorist, has been engaged to prepare the screen adaptation of "Three Indiscreet Ladies," by Hawthorne Hurst, which MGM intends to produce in the near future. Una McKinnay, Marge Evans and Florine McKinney are being mentioned for the cast. Robert Montgomery will have the masculine lead. "Footlight Parade," Warner Brothers' successor to "42nd Street" and "Gold-Diggers of 1933," James Cagney appears as a song and dance man for the first time on any screen, although he began his stage career that way. Among the others appearing in the cast are Joan Blondell, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell, Guy Kibbee, Clair Dodd and Frank McHugh.

Herbert Marshall has refused roles in "White Woman," and in Dorothy Hebe's "Cradle Song," and has been given a part in C. B. DeMille's "Four Frightened People," with William Gargan, Claudette Colbert and Mary Boland.

Paramount's call board showed eight companies working. Those on the list included "Duck Soup," "Too Much Harmony," "I'm An Angel," "Torch Singer," "To The Last Man," "Design for Living," and "Golden Harvest."

Universal has completed "Moonlight and Pretzels," a musical comedy which was released recently. The picture presents Leo Carrillo, Mary Brian, Roger Pryor and others, in addition to the Frank and Milt Britton band, the Four Eton Boys and the usual collection of show girls.

Carole Lombard and George Raft will appear together in Paramount's "All of Me," by Kubec Glasmon and Carey Wilson.

After considering some 100 known and unknowns for the leading role in "Smoky," which Fox is making, Victor Jory was selected for the part.

Or any of them are outstanding or unpaid, a sum sufficient to pay the interest on the said bonds and to pay the principal thereof as the same mature and become due.

SECTION 3. BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that if, for any reason, the refunding bonds, or any of them, should at any time be declared by the Court of competent jurisdiction to be void, the holder thereof and each of them shall be subrogated to all the rights, privileges and remedies, now or heretofore possessed by the holders of the bonds which are to be refunded hereby.

SECTION 4. BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that the proceeds of said bonds shall be used for no other purpose than the purpose in this ordinance and the said original resolution of the Mayor and Board of Commissioners of said City entered thereon.

SECTION 5. BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, that the City of Bay Saint Louis in lieu of selling the bonds authorized by this ordinance, may, with the consent of the holder or holders of the bonds to be refunded, exchange such refunding bonds, or any part or portion thereof, for the bonds of any other issue of the City of Bay Saint Louis, Mississippi, to the amount of $15,000.00 for the purpose of providing sufficient funds with which to refund outstanding bonds due January 1st, 1934, PRESCRIBING THE FORM OF SAID BONDS AND PROVIDING FOR A TAX LEVY.

WHEREAS, by Resolution adopted this 17th day of July 1933, it was declared to have been found and determined by the Mayor and Board of Commissioners of the City of Bay Saint Louis, Mississippi, that on the first day of January 1934, there will mature and become due valid bonds of said City of the following issues and amounts, to-wit: Bonds in the sum of $8,000.00, being the outstanding bonds due on the first day of January 1934 of that certain $10,000.00 issue of said City dated January 1st, 1920, and designated as "Municipal Improvement Bonds," and Bonds in the sum of $7,000.00, being the outstanding bonds due on January 1st, 1934, of that certain $7,000.00 issue of said City, dated January 1st, 1922, and designated as "Municipal Improvement Bonds," and Commonplace?

After fifty years what do we think about electric lights? To the majority of us they are as matter of fact as the air we breathe. Simply a button pushed turns darkness into light.

That first crude lamp, born of the patient experimentation of an Edison, appeared more wonderful then perhaps than the scintillating glory embodied in illumination at the Century of Progress. Truly in a world of wonders the electric light IS commonplace.

And it ought to be. Modern engineering and increasing home consumption for appliance use has made lighting a very small part of our cost of living.

Has it become so commonplace, however, that we have simply substituted an electric bulb for the old oil lamp and overlooked complete home lighting for cheer, health and protection?

For only a small cost your home can be kept a glowing beauty spot during evening hours, and "commonplace" electric lighting can make it cheer—health of vision—and protection from theft equally commonplace.

On residential combination rates a 60 watt lamp can be used as long as 11 hours for 1 cent.
